

If a forestry worker is injured in your forestry business, it could cost dearly!

Did you know that the cost of having just one forestry worker off the job could not only set you back $15,000, it could potentially force you to close your business.

It sounds harsh, but the cold reality is that 72% of small businesses that had a worker seriously injured found out the hard way and were forced to shutdown operations!

This could have been avoided if their health and safety was on track.

Don't let your business become another statistic.
